SIMPLE LIVING AT BUCKINGHAM
(By Associated Press)
LONDON, July 13.—Simplicity is the order of the day at Buckingham palace. Strict rationing applies to all meals, owing to the war. At a recent dinner party, among the guests of the king and queen being the Dowager Marchioness of Londorrey, Captain Sir John and Lady Ward, Admiral Sir Colin and Lady Keppel, Lord Claud Hamilton and the Countess of Shaftesbury, the menu consisted of turtle soup, fillet of sole, a cold dish, asparagus and strawberries. There were twelve other guests at the dinner. The strawberries were grown in the royal gardens at Windsor.

SEGREGATION SHEETS
The state tax commission is forwarding segregation sheets to the assessors throughout Nevada. This segregation of lands and values are to be in before the meeting of the state assessors this fall. By this advance method it is possible to have all data at hand when they assemble. The assessment of property and other values in Nevada is now carried on in a business way, the old haphazard scheme having been abandoned several years ago.

"BROOKIE" GIVEN BIG SEND OFF AT SMOKER AND TWO SOUVENIRS

Tonopah Lodge No. 1052, B. P. O. E., held a smoker last evening in order to give the members a chance to grasp the hand of Arthur R. Brooke, better known as "Brookie," who goes out Sunday morning with the volunteers for the army. There was a full house when Emil Elkner, exalted ruler, called the session to order and extended congratulations to the departing member who was lauded for his patriotic motives in offering himself for the supreme sacrifice for his country should the occasion demand. Mr. Elkner said a whole lot of nice things about Brooke, who was informed that, as a member of the entertainment committee, he could not be excelled and that if it had not been for his enthusiastic devotion to the interests of the lodge, the order would have suffered a serious loss. At the conclusion of his remarks Mr. Elkner drew forth a mysterious package which he presented to the object of his remarks who stood blushing furiously as a school girl at all the pretty compliments hurled at his head. The present turned out to be a beautiful wrist watch suitably engraved.

Before "Brookie" had recovered his self possession he was stood up again in a corner and compelled to listen to a lot more clever things phrased by Branch Smith who went on to speak of the sacrifice and devotion manifested by the departing member and wound up his little say by handing Brooke a well filled purse which, he said, would come in handy on the road to Berlin.

Judge Averill was called upon to complete the trinity of speakers by adding a few remarks to the program in which he dwelt on the lesson of the boys going forth of their own free will to assert their manhood in defending the colors under which they had grown from boyhood.

The rest of the evening was occupied with a splendid program of instrumental and vocal selections and before the last strains of "Auld Lang Syne" had died away Brooke was surrounded by a host of members who nearly shook his hands off with the strength of their congratulations and good wishes.

AMUSEMENTS

BUTLER THEATER

Carlyle Blackwell and Evelyn Greeley, two popular film stars will be seen at the Butler today in a World production entitled "His Royal Highness." Mr. Blackwell appears in a romantic role which will immensely please all his friends and admirers. He is seen in the role of Jack Christie, a famous football star who, through a strange set of circumstances, becomes the king of a small European country. In this position he goes through a great number of exciting experiences and with true Yankee pluck and ingenuity he comes out on top. "His Royal Highness" has been staged in an elaborate manner. The costumes are beautiful and the scenic effects are unequalled. In addition to the feature today, will be shown another one of those Sunshine comedies, "Wild Women and Tame Lions," in two reels of continuous uproar.

Tomorrow, the celebrated film star, House Peters, in "The Velvet Paw." Also, Pearl White, in "The House of Hate," and the last number of "Vengeance and the Woman," which finishes in a smashing climax.

COYOTES HIDES BRING BIG SUM

Over $35,000 worth of hides from coyotes and their animals, killed by government and state trappers and hunters in Nevada and California were sold during the past year by the United States biological survey. The greater part of these animals were killed in Nevada.

According to estimates made by E. N. Sans, head of the biological survey for Nevada and California, there is not one coyote in Nevada now where there were five two years ago when the rabies epidemic was at its height.

"Though rabies has not been completely placed under control it has been reduced to a point where it can be handled," said Mr. Sans. "It can never be controlled until all the coyotes have been killed off and that is almost an endless job. At the present time there are a great many hunters busy in all parts of the state and they will stay on the job the year around. The furs are no good at this time but as long as the animals are killed we do not worry about the furs."
